

ECON 490: Revised Course Policy Confirmation

NAME: _____

INSTRUCTIONS: You will receive a handout summarizing important changes to the course policies and guidelines for ECON 490. Please review the handout, respond to the following questions below, and submit these questions. You should keep the course policy handout.

QUESTIONS: Please confirm each of the following by writing “YES” under each question.

- 1) I have received the revised course policies handout.

- 2) I understand that no writing in any of the capstone assignments – including specifically the outline, final presentation, and final paper – should be copied or taken with only light edits (i.e. replacing 1-2 words in a sentence) from any AI source including ChatGPT, etc.

- 3) I understand that if the professor has reasonable cause to suspect that I have submitted a capstone assignment with directly copied or lightly edited AI-generated text, that capstone assignment may be replaced by an in-person, written exam covering the contents of my submission which will determine my grade on that capstone assignment.

- 4) I understand that any instances of unprofessional or disruptive behavior in class, office hours, etc. may result in a loss of Weekly Activity points with escalating penalties for repeated violations up to and including the loss of all Weekly Activity points.

- 5) I understand that the policy changes described do not apply retroactively (meaning, they do not cover prior assignments or weeks) and instead take effect today going forwards through the end of the semester.

- 6) I acknowledge that I am responsible for reviewing all course material, including lecture slides, handouts, Canvas announcements, and emails from the professor. Failing to be aware of course policies, assignment requirements, etc. is not an acceptable justification for failure to follow those policies.
